PRESIDENT'S REPORT

It looks like 2026 is going to be a busy year for the Cairns Potters Club. We still do not have a date or venue for our MELTING POT 2026 National Ceramics Exhibition, but we hope to confirm this shortly. Our AGM will take place on 14 March (see below), and several changes to club operations will be discussed and voted on that day, so we hope plenty of potters will attend. We are also still looking for potters to conduct children's classes, so please contact the club if you are interested.

LE SON DE LA TERRE

The Cairns Potters Club recently received a visit from the famous French potter and musician Ivan Levasseur on Wednesday 7 and 14 January. While he was here, he demonstrated how to make a small bird-sized flute in clay. Over the past 50 years, he has made hundreds of musical instruments in clay, including a violin, and these instruments have been used for musical performances in many countries.

Shown here is one of the bird flutes he made. After forming it, he covered it with an underglaze and then burnished it, and it is now ready for a cone 5 firing.

He also visited some of the potters from the Tablelands, where he shared his technique. Using some fired flutes (like the two bird flutes in the photo), he produced a wide range of sounds.

CLAY AND MATERIALS ORDER

The club has just sent an order to Picasso's Ceramics, so it will take a couple of weeks before we expect the transport company to deliver it. If any member would like to have clays or materials included in the club's February order, please send your order to lone@tpg.com.au.

MESSAGE FROM OUR LIBRARIAN

Hello All You Fabulous Potters,

Jacqi here, your Librarian, with some exciting news — the library will be opening very soon!

The big news is our fabulous new Book Drop, Yasu has kindly made a beautiful return box for us, so books can now be safely returned even when the library is closed. It's located in front of the library on the wicker stand. A huge thank you to Yasu from us all — you're a star! This will help us keep much better track of our books and stop them from wandering off.

There are a few rules you'll need to know:

- Library opening times:
Every Wednesday 10am–12pm, and every other Saturday 10am–12pm (unless advised otherwise by email due to unforeseen circumstances).
- Members may borrow up to 3 books total.
- Only members with current membership may borrow.
- To borrow a book, please notify the Librarian so it can be recorded in the ledger — this is the only way books may be taken out. The Librarian may be in the library or on the potting floor.
- Books are loaned for 2 weeks.
- Books may be returned directly to Jacqi or placed in the Book Drop.
- Books must be returned or renewed within 2 weeks.
- To renew, please email the Librarian with the book title and your club number: stormypud@gmail.com. You'll receive confirmation within 24 hours (if not, please email again).
- Books not returned or renewed within the fortnight will incur a 50c daily fine. After one month, an additional charge equal to the book's replacement cost will apply. This is due to many books previously lost to the sands of time.

The library will be open from Wednesday, February 18th.

I look forward to seeing you all, and I hope you enjoy using the library.

PS. We have had these lovely potting books donated to our library. A huge thank you to our anonymous donator.

Thank you. Jacqi, your librarian

GLAZE REFLECTIONS by Carolyn Brumby

It was a warm afternoon to gather in the club, and there were many keen participants. This was a basic information session to help new members in, What makes a glaze, safety, reading a glaze recipe, some tips and a demonstration. Reflecting on the safety which was discussed, although glaze ingredient may contain some toxic items, once fired this changes and the end products should be food safe. Safe practices are washing hands before you eat, clean aprons, clothing regularly and stir the glaze with anything but your hand.

I was asked about the cost of making glazes. The clear glaze, 4321 for 3 litres is approximately $15. All glaze cost will vary depending on the ingredients and the amounts in which you purchase the raw materials. But broadly speaking, commercial glazes will give a better finish if you are painting. Application for the glazes at the club are best if, dipped, poured, or sprayed.

Please don't waste the glazes and put all small amounts back in the correct bucket. If you are using the pouring method and catching the glaze into another container, I suggest you can place a tablespoon of water into the container, mix with leftover glaze contents and then pour back into the glaze bucket. Be mindful to add extra water very sparingly, so you don't upset the slurry balance. Finally, the clay you use must be able to be fired to stoneware, 1280°C. This is the best fit for the glaze as well as the glaze firing.

Next glaze talk: Sunday 15/02 3-4pm

FREE! maximum of 25 people.

Catriona Smith (aka emiRaven)

My arts practice explores many mediums, including photography, video, music, digital art, and ink drawing. I'm guided by my curiosity as I draw inspiration from myth and mystery, solitude in nature, and the gentle presence of my ancestors.

Creating is a way for me to slow down and hear my inner world, engage in the present and seek answers to questions that may never be revealed. My artistic journey is deeply entwined with my quest for healing. By following my intuition and researching Ancient Nordic healing practices, animism and culture I've begun restoring roots that have withered through migration.

After two years working with clay, sculpture has become my primary medium. Its unique challenges and rich rewards have captivated me as each piece emerges through ritual and reflection. Creating pieces inspired by the past is my way to honour and embody the ancestral wisdom that continues to echo through time.
